School

Last night nobody could determine from a state financial study report whether Monterey would receive $180,000 or a million plus in additional state funds if it unifies its city elementary schools and high school district.

The occasion was a meeting of the augmented county committee of school district organization. School board members and administrators from Pfeiffer, Palo Colorado, Carmel, Monterey, and Marina districts, County School Superintendent Gladys Stone, and Floyd Taylor from the State Department of Education, studied the report in bafflement and gave up.

Monterey apologized, "We just got it the other day and we had to bring in something."

Monterey will ask the state to

City

City councilmen, fire underwriters, representatives of the California Water and Telephone Company met in city hall Tuesday morning to discuss Carmel's water pressure need for fire protection. The water company promised to undertake the expense of a new main along Junipero Street.

The Carmel City Council voted unanimously for first reading of the "motel" amendment to the interim zoning ordinance after a public hearing Tuesday night.

Two attorneys, Eben Whittlesey and Gordon Campbell, protested. Mr. Whittlesey thought the ordinance does not provide sufficient protection against runaway commercial development, and Mr. Campbell stated that the amendment, in giving complete discretionary powers to the planning commission on site coverage, would not stand up in court if a property owner chose to contest it.

Admiral C. W. Fisher and Chairman of the Carmel Planning Commission George Willox spoke in favor of the amendment. Admiral Fisher also urged that the council adopt as soon as possible a new zoning ordinance to block a massive hotel, garage, and shop development proposed for the Fenton property bounded by Ocean Avenue, Junipero, Seventh and Mission.

The Most Reverend Harry Anselm Clinch, 49-year-old auxiliary bishop of the Monterey-Fresno diocese and new pastor of Carmel Mission San Carlos Borromeo, tells this story:

A few days after arriving to take up his new duties here, he was walking in the courtyard of Serra School which is adjacent to the rectory. A small boy with a magnificent shock of red hair came up to get acquainted. The youngster by-passed the usual form of address for the church official (your excellency) for the more handy, "Hey, Bishop."

This delighted Bishop Clinch and so did the boy's response when he was complimented on his fine growth of hair. "I'll bet if you had this hair, Bishop," the youngster said, "you wouldn't look so old."

Bishop Clinch, who is admittedly the victim of a rapidly retreating hairline but who looks anything but old, laughed heartily over this. And you find out quite soon after meeting him that laughing is a thing he does frequently.

Slim, friendly, uncomplicated and an expert at putting everyone around him at ease, this distinguished newcomer to the community is the first native Californian ever elevated to the episcopacy in the 36-year old Monterey-Fresno Diocese, which serves some 340,000 Catholics.

Long a champion of amicable relations with non-Catholics and with the community in which he works, Bishop Cluinch sees his new assignment as a two-fold responsibility.

"I feel that the Carmel community and the Mission San Carlos are equally interested in making the historic Mission a place of world-wide renown by means of continued restoration and proper maintenance. Secondly, we must take care of the everyday needs of a growing parish."

His additional responsibilities here, however, mean no lessening of his obligations as auxiliary bishop. He says that probably two assistant pastors will be needed in the parish, since much of his own time necessarily will still be spent

More Construction To Start Soon In Carmel School Dist.

Bids will be opened October 16, at 4:30 o'clock in the school architect's office on a custodian storage building at River School. Cost of the 16 by 25 foot building is estimated by Cranston and Elston, school architects, to be $3000. (See legal notice, page 13, this issue of the Pine Cone.)

Plans for a new wing for the administration building and for extending and remodelling the cafeteria at the high school are in Sacramento, awaiting approval by the state architects.

The $35,000 administration wing will contain nine rooms: a student body office, three counseling rooms, an attendance record room and auxiliary room for the attendance record machines, a faculty meeting room, and offices for adult school principal and recreation director.

Cafeteria modifications, an estimated $40,000 job which includes kitchen equipment, consist in roofing over the west terrace, remodelling the kitchen and corridor work.

Owings Give Acre Of Beach Land To Point Lobos Park

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Owings have offered a gift of an acre of land fronting on Gibson Beach at Carmel Highlands to the State of California. This property, if accepted, means that Point Lobos State Park Reserve will control all land fronting on Gibson Beach

Point Ready To Petition Council For Annexation

Carmel Point residents voted two to one for annexation to the City of Carmel, according to returns from the postcard poll sponsored last week by the Carmel Point Property Owners Association, F. D. Moller, chairman of the organization, told the Pine Cone this morning.

The Association's board of directors consider this a mandate to take the first legal step in the annexation procedure, Mr. Moller said. They will seek permission of the Carmel City Council to circulate a petition for annexation among Point property owners.

Before the council gives its consent for the circulation of the petition, they must refer the matter to the Carmel Planning Commission for a report or recommendation, and the planning commission must make a report or recommendation within 40 days.

The council then decides whether or not it will consent to the commencement of the procedings. This decision does not legally bind the city to accept the Point, but it is an ethical commitment.

The next move is the Point's. The proponents file with County boundary commission a written description of territory proposed to be annexed. The boundary commission reports to the proponents on definiteness of proposed boundaries, etc. Proponents then publish notice of intent to circulate petition in the Carmel Pine Cone and the Monterey Herald. Proponents file affidavit of publication with City Clerk, and copy of notice.

Council acknowledges receipt of notice and consents to circulation of petitions. (Resolution of Acknowledgement and Consent.) Commence circulation of petitions amongst voters of area proposed to be annexed. Petitions bearing signatures of at least 25% of the qualified electors filed with the City Clerk. Clerk and Registrar of Voters certify to sufficiency of signatures.

Council announces intent to call a special election to submit to the voters of the territory the proposal to annex, and sets date for hearing

Hose Fight Feature Of Fire Prevention Week Observance

Fire prevention week starts Sunday. The kids will have a chance to become junior fire marshals. The adults will don sou'westers and slickers to witness the annual hose fight among the members of Carmel Volunteer Fire Department Thursday night, October 9, at San Carlos and Ocean Avenue, 7:30 o'clock.

The fire department will hold open house at the fire house all week.

Fire Marshal Robert Leidig and Fire Chief Robert Smith will glamorize fire prevention for the school children with illustrated booklets, hats and rings, the insignia of junior fire marshals, which they will earn by filling out their home-inspection fire forms.

Students from Woods and River will come in groups to visit the firehouse.

GREYS ROUT REDS IN PADRE INTRASQUAD GRID TILT

Captain Bill Hicks and his Grey unit put on a surprising display of power last Friday afternoon to thoroughly unhinge Phil White's Red squad, 48 to 13, in the annual Carmel High intrasquad football tussle. Led by a crisp-blocking line which opened gaping holes in the Red forward wall, the Greys moved to a four touchdown lead in the first half and continued to pile up the score during the second period. The steamroller type blocking of Al Eaker, Bill Hicks, and the Wilkin twins paved the way for the consistent Grey attack which was deftly engineered by quarterbacks Craig Smith and Russ Wise. Dennis Peavey and John Moffett provided most of the running power for the winning squad while Craig Smith supplied the air arm which riddled the porous Red secondary. Quarterback Smith connected on eight straight passes during one offensive surge by the Greys. Smith's favorite receivers were Bill Hicks, Dennis Peavey, and Bob Moore. Ron Faia, a stubby right halfback, provided most of the punch for the Reds, knifing through the middle for a pair of touchdowns against the stubborn Grey defense. Norman Colman was a bulwark in the Red line but the smart Grey quarterbacks soon learned to keep their runners away from the 245-pound tackle.

An alert pass defense spearheaded by Dennis Peavey and Russ Wise throttled the Red passing attack and kept its vaunted aerial game under good control. A savage rush on the Red passer forced several fumbles which were recovered by the Greys. Van Treat, Al Eaker, and John Wilkin were especially effective in putting the heat on the Red overhead game. Newcomers to varsity football Jamie Holman, Jeff Smith, Andy Elliott, Bob Moore, Tom Stanford, Deen Rowe, Tom Green, Don Faia, Craig Smith, and the Wilkin twins showed they were ready for competition with the big boys and will give a good account of themselves when the league games start.

CARMEL HOSTS KING CITY MUSTANGS SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The rough tough King City High football squads invade Bardarson Field this Saturday afternoon to provide the opposition for the untried Carmel High varsity and junior-varsity teams. This will be the first official game of the season for the Padres and they are tackling a solid football machine in the single-wing Mustangs. Blessed with the heaviest team in the B-division of the Coast Counties Athletic League, King City is well-equipped to make the single-wing hum with power and speed. Up front, the Mustangs average close to 200 pounds across the line and the backfield is a fast-moving unit with a 160-pound average. Top ground gainers for the Mustangs are Malcolm Gregory, a swift fullback, and Doug Martella, an accomplished passer and triple-threat tailback. The King City line is anchored by Jack Lafferty, Neil Schmidt, and Fred Rutherford, a trio which averages well over 200 pounds.

Carmel's defending champions will attempt to counter the power of the Mustang's with a starting offensive unit of Bill Hicks and Phil White, ends; Chris Wilkin and Sam Farr, tackles; Mike Marquard and Captain Allan Eaker, guards; David Vincent, center; Ron Faia and Dennis Peavey, halfbacks; Bud Conroy, fullback; and Cim Conway or Craig Smith at the quarterback spot. The Padres will go on defense with Hicks and White, ends; Norman Colman and John Wilkin, tackles; Van Treat and Allan Eaker, guards; Steve Gann and Larry Dufur, linebackers; Russ Wise and Dennis Peavey, halfbacks; and Craig Smith, safety.

Coach Fred Rainer's enthusiastic junior-varsity squad is one game up on the varsity, having met and conquered the Monterey junior-varsity last Saturday afternoon. The sophomore-laden jayvees looked good in defeating Monterey and should be a tough hurdle for the King City Ponies. Sound in the fundamentals of blocking and tackling and blessed with a fine passing quarterback, Frank Mayo, this year's junior-varsity is light as compared to last year's champions but it has more speed and is deeper at all positions. The Little Padres will open the game with a starting unit of Doyle Clayton and Toby Edson, ends; Brian LeNeve and Frank Preve, tackles; Fred Bucher and Nick Molitor, guards; Paul Rice, center; Mike and John Draper, halfbacks; Mayo, quarterback; and David Hansen, fullback.

Junior-varsity gets underway at 12:00 o'clock with the varsity tilt slated for a 2:00 o'clock kickoff.

CLEAT MARKS

Former Sunset School athlete, Grimm Mason, broke into big time football in fine fashion Saturday afternoon as he led the Oregon State Beavers to victory over Kansas University. Grimm scored both touchdowns for the Beavers and turned in a fine all-around game for the winners. The ex-Lobo halfback ran into tough luck in the second half, picking up a twisted knee which may sideline him for this Saturday's tilt with UCLA . . . An interested spectator at the Oregon State-Kansas game was Stan McClurg, a member of the Beaver Iron Man team a few

Bob Leidig Gives Rules For Guarding Children From Fire

"Don't rely on Lady Luck in place of a good baby-sitter."

"Children left alone at home would be trapped and helpless if fire or some other emergency should arise," Fire Marshal Bob Leidig warns.

"Never leave your children alone, not even a few minutes," Marshal Leidig urges in a Fire Prevention message. "A study by the National Fire Protection Association shows that one out of every three child fire victims was alone and helpless when the fire struck."

Marshal Leidig pleads with parents to take these precautions to protect their children from fire at home and at play:

Be sure that baby sitters have specific instructions in case of fire. These include orders to get the children outside the instant smoke or gas is smelled, the location of at least two escape routes, and how to get in touch with the fire department, parents, doctor, and police.

Keep young children — two and under — in constant sight and mind.

Teach older children how to use and respect fire. Don't forget: they learn best by your example.

Keep your home free of fire hazards by regular inspections. The fire department will help in this.

Train children of all ages how to get out of the house to safety in case of fire. Have at least two escape routes from every room, and be sure the youngsters know these routes by heart.

ELECTRONICS MEETING

Charles Mulkey of Carmel, instructor at Monterey Peninsula College, is one of two co-chairmen arranging the California Electronics Instructors' Conference at Modesto Junior College, October 24-26.

Ian L. Belangee of the Carmel High School faculty will attend the meetings on teaching methods and instructional resources. Three of the top electronics men in the country will address the 100 instructors and latest developments and trends in the electronics industry will be on the agenda.

Pat Hillings To Visit Carmel Tomorrow Afternoon

U. S. Congressman Patrick J. Hillings, Candidate for Attorney General of California, will visit the Monterey Peninsula on Friday afternoon and evening, October 3.

George R. Walker, attorney, Monterey Peninsula Chairman of the Pat Hillings for Attorney General Committee, has arranged for all persons to meet Congressman and Mrs. Hillings at the Ordway Building (across from the San Carlos Hotel), Monterey, from 5:00 to 7:00 o'clock.

Earlier in the day the congressman will pay short visits to Carmel, Pacific Grove and Seaside areas.

Congressman Hillings is a veteran U. S. Congressman from the 25th District, having served in Congress eight years, during which time he became a senior member of the Committee on the Judiciary, the legal committee of the House of Representatives. As a member of this committee which maintains supervision over the Attorney General of the United States, the Department of Justice, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Federal Court System, he has evaluated thousands of bills introduced in the House of Representatives.

Malcolm Millard is the Carmel chairman of the Pat Hillings for Attorney General committee. He says, "Pat Hillings is an outstanding member of the State Bar of California and exceptionally well-qualified to become the chief legal officer for the people of California."

The Most Reverend Harry Anselm Clinch

in travel and in official duties in other parts of the diocese.

Bishop Clinch, who succeeds the Right Reverend Monsignor Michael O'Connell here, has recently had his September 8 appointment confirmed by a rescript from Pope Pius XII.

His excellency the Most Reverend Harry Clinch is unique in several ways. In addition to the novelty of being a California-born bishop, he was also the first bishop ever consecrated in California in a televised ceremony. And there are surely very few bishops of the church who are also active and enthusiastic Kiwanians and who welcome with relish the hackneyed question of the curious, "How did you ever happen to decide to become a priest?"

He feels that giving forthright answers about affairs that most people have difficulty comprehending is his personal contribution to human understanding and he talks freely about his early life and interesting career.

The bishop told how he had decided to become a priest because his mother, who died when he was 11 years old, instilled in him the idea that the priesthood was a calling exalted above all others.

Born in San Anselmo October 27, 1908, he was a descendant of Irish grandparents and New York parents who moved to California early in the century.

He attended public school in Fresno, where the family later moved, and Fresno High School where he was a pole vaulter on the "B" team. After a year and a half there, he was selected by the bishop of his diocese for 12 years of study for the priesthood, sponsored by the Catholic Church Extension Society.

His prowess at athletics came to light again at St. Benedict's in Kansas, where he played end on the football team and was a member of a basketball team that won the Kansas State Catholic tournament in 1928. Here also, he made a swimming team at a nearby college, which recruited good swimmers from elsewhere.

He continued his schooling at St. Joseph's Preparatory Seminary at Mountain View, California, and was ordained in Fresno in 1936. Shortly afterward, he was named diocesan director for the Society for the Propagation of the Faith and the Holy Childhood Association, because of his ability as an organizer. He also established the Catholic Youth Organization in the area and became first director of Camp Santa Teresita.

He has also been diocesan director of the Legion of Decency, chaplain at St. Agnes Hospital from 1942 to 1946, pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church in Clovis the next year and first pastor of Fresno's Sacred Heart Parish, which he established.

In 1948, he became pastor of St. Mary's Church in Taft, where he oversaw completion of a new church, rectory and school auditorium and began plans for a new school and convent.

Six years ago he was named a Domestic Prelate by the Pope and four years ago he was appointed Dean of the Bakersfield area, including Kern and Inyo counties.

His three sisters are the remaining members of his family and live in the San Francisco area. They are Sister Joseph Therese, C. S. C., Mrs. Leonard Gordon and Miss Roseann Clinch, all of whom were present at Bishop Clinch's consecration ceremony last year.

Even with all these duties which kept him busy in the past, and all the duties which occupy him now, Bishop Clinch gives no hint of being rushed or harried or of being impatient with people who visit him.

He looks out the rectory windows at the beautifully tended gardens of the Mission and thinks, he says, how different they are from the oil well superstructures observable around Taft. "Not that the wells aren't satisfactory to look at in their own way," he amended. "They were our livelihood there."

Bishop Clinch is also a speaker in great demand. He likes to tell groups of laymen what it's like being a church official 24 hours of every day. And he likes to hear the problems and opinions of others.

He is a man, in fact, of whom we'll all be seeing more.

Rissels Have First Child

Pebble Beach postmaster William J. Rissel and Mrs. Rissel have a little girl, Dena Elizabeth, born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on September 26. Her birth weight was seven pounds, two ounces. Both her parents graduated from Carmel High School, her father, Bill, in 1945, and Carol, her mother, in 1951.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Smith of Carmel and Mrs. Lily Rissel of Pebble Beach are Dena's grandparents.

Farrell's Big Voice Thrills Carmel Opera Aria And Lieder Lovers

By Eben Whittlesey

Some years ago I heard Eileen Farrell sing in concert on the Monterey Peninsula. My recollection is a bit hazy, but I know the artist did not have the maturity and assurance of style that she demonstrated Friday evening for the Carmel Music Society. Certainly the ovation she won the other night at Sunset Auditorium was not merely a tribute to her fine voice; it was also a recognition of dramatic talent, of masterful vocal shading and a high level of consistency throughout the program.

Two Bach songs provided a gracious introduction to the evening. The first, Mein Glau Biges Herze, was sung in English, and provided a more than usual vigorous beginning. The style was spirited and vibrant, giving a fairly wide range for the singer's mellow tones to develop their appealing quality. The third number, Gluck's Divinite du Sty, began really to disclose the high development of Miss Farrell's dramatic voice. Her power and the complete control with which it was used, together with clarity of diction, won a real ovation from the audience. One would like, perhaps, to have just one aria after another.

A group of Brahms' love songs were well chosen for variety and intrinsic musical quality. Dort in den Wieden was sung with vigor, but with a light and easy style. The familiar Der Schmid called forth strong declamation and vocal power, while Es Traumute Mir had a soft, mysterious quality demanding fine control of the voice in pianissimo. The general effect of the Brahms group was to bring out musical rather than dramatic values, in contrast to a common style of presenting Brahms which tortures the subject matter into an artificially dramatic effect with a sort of forced-draught emotion.

It is customary for singers to conclude the first half of their program with a powerful dramatic effect. Whether this is done to make sure the audience will come back again after the intermission, or in order that the artist may have ten minutes to recuperate from the supreme effort, I do not know. True to this tradition, Miss Farrell won herself an ovation by her handling of the Verdi aria, Ernani Involami. It gave play to the full range of her voice and moved effortlessly through difficult transitions. Yet there was never any feeling of vocal strain or effort.

The French group began with Debussy's familiar Air de Lia, a dramatic show piece evoking real power and wide contrast. Yet, as befits its subject matter, the song was sung with considerable restraint and without excess emotion. Fleurs Des Bles, by the same composer, offered a fine contrast with its delicate and subdued sensitiveness. A Poulenc group included C and Hotel in which the singer effectively captured the composer's whimsical, contemplative style.

There followed an American group not particularly impressive for its content. I liked the wistful and appealing Serenade of John Alden Carpenter and the dramatic quality of Mortimer Browning's The Phoenix, sung with power and ease. As a final and satisfying reversion to the grand manner, we heard Pace, Pace, Mio Dio from Forza Del Destino. It was a moving and richly colored interpretation, notable for beautiful high notes. The audience responded with another ovation, after which I felt we hardly deserved the three motheaten warhorses which Miss Farrell dragged out for encores; Grieg's Dream, Summertime from Porgy and Bess, and finally the grandaddy of all bromides, Through The Years. Nevertheless we will seldom hear a finer voice or one more skillfully used.

New Members Added To Truth About Water Committee

A complete roster of the Carmel executive council of the Truth About Water Committee was announced today by Corum Jackson, local chairman of the committee which opposes formation of the Monterey Peninsula Municipal Water District.

New Carmel names announced today include David Askew, Dr. Nelle Barker Bates, Stanley Ewig, Mrs. Paul Flanders, Col. William Freehoff, Stuart Haldorn, Benjamin Kinney, John H. Miller, Dr. P. A. Mix, Mrs. Herbert John Morse, Roy Page, Edward H. Smith, Lars Svendsgaard and Dr. John Homer Woolsey.

Previously announced executive council members include Paul Bovard, Wesley W. Kergan, Andy Martin, Frank D. Moller, Dr. John W. Robertson and Arthur R. Wise.

Jackson said, "This group will direct a comprehensive mail, telephone and person-to-person campaign to tell Carmel voters about the new tax and bond threat posed by the district." Total Carmel membership in the committe is more than 100.

Jackson pointed out that Carmel residents are among the highest per capita owners in the state of securities of all types . . . both stocks and bonds.

"When a local investor buys a security, one of the factors he checks into is the quality of the company's management. Many local investors have not been impressed by the sum total of business experience represented by all the candidates running for the office of director of this new taxing ageney," Jackson said.

Olivia Young Wins In Poetry Contest

Olivia Young of Carmel has been named third place winner in the national poetry contest sponsored by the Saratoga Branch of the National League of American Pen Women.

Her entry was entitled Meadow Water, according to Margaret Holzer, poetry chairman of the Saratoga branch.

The annual contest was held in honor of Poetry Day, October 15.

Carrie Abbott Guio of Indianapolis was first place winner.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON
"UNREALITY"

How man can cope successfully with all phases of fear, sickness, and sin will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Unreality" will include John's account of the healing by Christ Jesus of the "man which was blind from his birth" (John 9: 1-7).

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (210:11-16): "Knowing that Soul and its attributes were forever manifested through man, the Master healed the sick, gave sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, feet to the lame, thus bringing to light the scientific action of the divine Mind on human minds and bodies and giving a better understanding of Soul and salvation."

The Golden Text is from Romans (13:12): "The night is far spent, the day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light."

Wayfarer Women See Sacred Vase Which Must Not Be Touched

A beautiful silver vase bearing the crest of the Emperor of Japan was one of the highlights of the Oriental Tea given by circle members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of the Wayfarer last Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin W. Sullivan on Mar Vista Drive in Monterey. The purpose was to raise money for the Auxiliary missionary program, and Mrs. Sullivan, a member of the circle, offered her home and her outstanding collection of oriental antiques, art and craft treasures, as the attraction for the occasion. Around 250 items in the display furnished an interesting afternoon or evening for some two hundred persons who attended the affair.

The seal of the emperor, the 16-petal chrysanthemum in raised gold on the side of the vase, is sacred to the ruler and may not be used by any subject. Moreover, the sacred vase may not be touched by bare human hands, and the Sullivans have adhered to that taboo. During the war and occupation many of the valuables of the Imperial household had to be sold to meet the expenses of the government, the vase among them. It was presented to Mrs. Sullivan just prior to her departure from the Orient by someone whom she had befriended. Mr. Sullivan was in the occupation forces after the war, and as soon as families were allowed to join their men she went over. He is now stationed at Fort Ord.

The tea was held Thursday afternoon and again that evening to allow men who were interested to see the treasures, and on Friday afternoon it was repeated by Mrs. Sullivan as a courtesy to the members of the Japanese Language Department of the Army Language School in Monterey, who would benefit from the insight into the Japanese character offered by the beautiful art and craft products. They ranged through porcelain and pottery products, delicate figurines hardly an inch tall, exquisite textiles embroidered or hand-painted, fine kimonos and other wearing apparel, ancient Samurai and modern swords, and decorative articles of traditional Japanese culture.

Officers of the Woman's Auxiliary served as hostesses, together with Circle Two which arranged the tea. They included Mrs. M. E. Affonin, chairman of the Circle, Mrs. J. R. Christie, president of the Auxiliary; Mrs. F. H. Venn, Mrs. E. Hicks, Mrs. E. L. Mudge, Mrs. K. F. Gray, Mrs. H. R. Bell, Mrs. C. W. Robinson, and many others who guided the groups about the rooms and explained the exhibit, or served the tea in the attractive patio. On Friday Mrs. Affonin, Mrs. Hicks, and Mrs. Venn assisted Mrs. Sullivan in entertaining four Japanese Language classes, faculty members, secretaries and their wives at the tea.

Studio Casting For Agatha Christie's Mousetrap Mystery

The Studio Theatre in Carmel is announcing its third show with plans for a production of Agatha Christie's murder drama, The Mousetrap. This play has never been produced professionally in the United States, but has been running continuously in London since it opened in November of 1952. Now, six years later, it is London's longest run hit on record.

Agatha Christie is known in this country for her popular murder mystery novels and for her recent stage and film success, Witness for the Prosecution.

The Mousetrap is a tight melodrama in the best tradition of stage mysteries. Eight roles are being cast for the show, ranging in scope from four older character roles through four eccentric personalities who go to make up the eight persons caught in Miss Christie's murderous web of suspicion.

Open tryouts for all roles will be held at The Studio on Dolores Street between Ocean and Seventh at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Anyone interested in reading for a part or doing backstage work is invited to attend. Additional information may be gained by phoning MA 4-1661 daily, 1:00 to 5:00 o'clock.

DESERT INCIDENT

I am the eagle
Suspended in the hollow shell of sky,
Bound as echo to a spoken word.
I am the eagle's shadow:
A finger of darkness
Stilling the white-hot waves from sand.
I am the hare cooling in the shade,
Resting in a shadow,
Listening to the rush of broad wings.
I am the talons
Meeting through unresisting flesh—
The bones bleaching in the sun.

—VERA T. MARSHALL

PATTERNS OF MYSTERY

The boards in my floor have a strange design,
Like rippling water on hidden rocks;
Or the weird, fringed shape of flickering flame
Embossed with light and darkened line,
By a Master Craftsman, Whose hand unlocks
The mysteries of all of time;
Except the reason why chlorophyll
And the life-blood of a massive oak,
Though long-since dead, left this record here
Of an unknown plan for me to see;—
For greater beauty than wrought by man,
This imaged growth of a mighty tree.

—GRACE R. BALLARD

OVERTONE

Sleek-pelted city, growl—and glare through lidless traffic-eyes!
I feel no malice in your stare,
no menace in your cries.

Beyond your fetid caves, I know fresh hills are slanted green to young streams tumbling sheer from snow down valley slopes between, where breath of gentler living things
perfumes the sunrise air, with flittering of chiffon wings intangible as prayer.

Such is the scene-reality compelling eye and ear, this calm the only view I see,
this peace the tone I hear.

Lirrel Starling Is New Coast Director For Poetry Day

From headquarters at Lakeland, Florida, Dr. E. J. Murfey, national director of the National Poetry Day Committee, has confirmed the appointment of Lirrel Starling, California's Poet of the Mother Lode, and contributor to the Pine Cone Poetry Column, as Regional Pacific Coast Director for the movement which has as its aim the annual establishment of October 15 as a nationally observed date honoring poets and poetry. In this the committee is a constituent of cultural groups in many countries which are seeking to establish a world wide observance of Poetry Day. The new regional director, a resident of San Andreas, Calaveras County, succeeds another Pine Cone Poet, Margaret Lewis Albanese of San Rafael, recently retired from the post which she had filled for the past several years; jurisdiction covers the states of Washington, Oregon and California where work is done in cooperation with committee-appointed chairmen of these Pacific Coast States.

California Federation of Chapparral Poets will hold its annual McGroarty Pilgrimage at the Public Park home of the late Poet Laureate John Steven McGroarty, in the Verdugo area of Los Angeles County, in conjunction with its state convention and Poetry Day Observance in October. Lirrel Starling will be the featured speaker; her topic in particular concerns the advances of the Poetry Day movement and its importance in the cultural life of modern nations.

Pat on the back this week goes to four Carmel High School seniors, William (Mike) Blanton, Jo Ann Johnston, Karen Oleson and John Williams, who are semifinalists in the annual National Merit Scholarship competition.

Last spring these students took the three-hour National Merit Scholarship examination competing with 479,000 top-ten-in-the-class students in high schools throughout the United States. The Carmel students compete again with 10,000 semifinalists on December 6 in the three-hour scholastic aptitude test of the College Entrance Board. This examination will verify their scores in the National Merit Scholarship competition and determine whether they are to be among 735 finalists. National Merit Scholarships, from a fund of $5,000,000 provided by 80 business and industrial organizations and interested societies, will be awarded to the finalists.

A Carmel Unified School District bus left Sunset School on Monday morning loaded with 43 sixth graders and their teachers Mr. Neil Smith and Miss Diane DuBois for a week of school camp at Jones Gulch near La Honda. Parents helped carry sleeping bags and suitcases to the bus, then joined Superintendent Stuart Mitchell and Principal Orville Rogers to wave good-bye to the departing students. The bus proceeded up the coast highway to Pescadero then turned inland to the San Francisco Y.M.C.A. camp grounds. Principal Rogers followed by car to spend the first night with sixth graders learning natural science by living outdoors.

Miss Sally McPhail's and Mr. Harvey Bennett's sixth grade pupils leave for the same experience on October 13.

Loyal Wiekhorst, PTA scholarship carnival chairman, is apprehensive about what donations literal minded parents are going to send for the food booth. The bulletin requesting contributions stated "James, jellies and pickles" would be welcomed.

Already two, we suspect facetious mothers, have telephoned Mr. Wiekhorst to ask how he wants James readied for sale, or will it be all right if they send him as he is. Each said they were happy to give their James to such a worthy cause as raising money to send deserving Carmel High School seniors to college, but warned Mr. Wiekhorst James mustn't be left unconfined in the food booth or there would be no profits.

Topicer hears rumors that two other Carmel families, one expecting a litter of kittens, the other white rats, are thinking of naming all the arrivals James and sending them to the food booth. Mother cat and mother rat were purchased at last year's carnival auction booth.

If you've wondered why Carpenter Street becomes Forest Road below Ocean Avenue, we have the answer.

Fifty years ago Herbert Heron purchased 18 lots in the Eighty Acres from Frank Devendorf, one of the original developers of Carmel. Carpenter Street ran along one side of the property. Bert told Mr. Devendorf that Carpenter was a pretty prosaic name for a road in such a beautiful area.

"What would you like it to be?" asked Mr. Devendorf. Bert thought of the pines and oaks on his woodsy piece of land and suggested "Forest." Mr. Devendorf took a pencil, crossed out the name Carpenter Street below Ocean Avenue on the map of Carmel, and inserted Forest Road.

"But there's a punch line" said Bert, telling the story last week. "When I built my home, the only other house in the Eighty Acres belonged to George Sterling. As the years passed, other houses were built around Forest Road. One day I realized that seven of my immediate neighbors were carpenters, a teacher of woodworking and an architect. Carpenter Street would have been a more appropriate name after all."

What Herbert Heron didn't say! During those same years he had founded the Forest Theater, been Mayor of Carmel, instituted and directed Carmel's Shakespeare Festival, built the Seven Arts Building, opened Carmel's first book shop and been ever ready to preserve the original character of the city.

How to do it better with WATER

KEEP IT CLEAN WITH WATER

The trick in washing your car is to use plain, cold water and use it often—before road dust and grit are allowed to accumulate on your car finish. Apply with sponge and rinse with hose. If you wash your car weekly, you wash away harmful road dirt and grit before they cause scratches. Most car manuals recommend against soaps or detergents which often remove protective waxes and original paint sheen. So to keep your car really clean with less effort, wash your car before you have to, regularly, using plain water.

Yes, water can be used in many ways, but the most important thing about it is that it be available and ready to use when you need it. That's where the people at California Water & Telephone Company step into the picture. It's our job to bring water to you. Not just any water, but water that is safe and drinkable. Through a continuous program of examining and testing, we insure you a constant supply of water. Water that is sparkling fresh and fit to drink.

George Canfield Married

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew C. Jenkins and Mrs. Jenkins' daughters, Pamela and Camilla Canfield, were in Honolulu on September 20 for the marriage of Gail Britt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Britt of Alton, Illinois, to George Folger Canfield, son of Mrs. Jenkins and the late Major Robert Warren Canfield of New York. The double ring ceremony was performed in Hickam Air Force Base Chapel with the reception following at the home of Colonel and Mrs. Frank Dunn.

The bride, given in marriage by Colonel Dunn, wore an imported Japanese silk Bombalure gown. The deeply scalloped neckline of the bodice was edged with lace contrasting with the simplicity of the long full-flowing skirt. A French crown of pearls held her tulle veil in place. Her only jewelry was pearl earrings and she carried a bouquet of white orchids, lilies of the valley and stephanotis arranged with pikaki streamers.

Pamela Canfield was the bride's attendant in a green silk frock with a pikaki bandeau in her hair and carrying a spray of brown orchids. Mr. Jenkins was best man for his stepson.

The bride majored in English and speech at Illinois University where she was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. She plans to take graduate work at the University of Hawaii.

Her husband is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Lathrop Brown who live on their ranch below Big Sur. He is a graduate of St. Paul's School in New Hampshire and attended Harvard University before going to Europe to study at the Sorbonne.

The young couple will live in Honolulu while both are serving in the Air Force at Hickam Field.

Johnnie Second In Bike Race

Nine-year-old Johnnie Rennels came back to Carmel when school started one dollar richer than when he left in June to spend two and a half months visiting his grandparents Mayor and Mrs. R. T. Hart of Moose Lake, Minnesota. He raced other boys in his age group around the track in the bicycle race at the county fair in Barnum and won the dollar for placing second.

Mrs. Rennels left Carmel in June, with Johnnie and her daughter Susie, in time to attend her twentieth high school reunion and was the member of her class who travelled farthest. Besides her parents, she also saw her twin brother, R. T. Hart Jr., municipal judge of Moose Lake. For 31 years Mrs. Rennels' parents have operated the resort, Hart's, on Moose Lake where she and the children stayed. Susie and Johnnie had a most enjoyable summer, she reports, exploring the northern Minnesota countryside on their bicycles, jumping into haystacks and living in a small town on a lake. Before they came home, Susie and Johnnie with their mother and grandmother, went to Canada and visited Kenora, Winnipeg and Fort William.

Mr. Rennels (John Sr.) remained in Carmel but vacationed for two weeks with his family after they returned. This week he is back at Carmel Savings and Loan.

Chess Master Here Wednesday

Peninsula chess players will have an opportunity to test their skill against an international chess master at 8:00 o'clock, October 8, at the House of Four Winds on Calle Principal in Monterey.

The occasion will be the visit to the Monterey Peninsula Chess Club of Mr. George Koltanowski, international chess master and holder of the unofficial title of world's blindfold chess champion, who for ten years has been the chess editor of the San Francisco Chronicle. Following a lecture, Koltanowski will give an exhibition in which he will engage in as many as thirty simultaneous games against different opponents. The public is invited to participate, either as spectators or players. All players, men, women, expert and novice, are equally welcome.

For further information telephone Mrs. Helen Bennett, MA 4-7833, or Mr. Sidney Ullman, FR 2-8813.

Two WAC Events, One Tomorrow

Professor Ronald Hilton, director of the Hispanic American Studies program at Stanford University, will address the Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the World Affairs Council Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the Carmel High School cafeteria. His subject will be Significant Developments In South America. This is the second of a series of eight lectures on South America, aranged by Mrs. Howard Clark, program chairman. Mr. Hilton's lecture will place special emphasis on the situation in Brazil.

Hans von Richter, first vice president, who with Mrs. von Richter and their son Gordon, spent the summer months touring Europe, will give an informal illustrated talk on Europe as they saw it, at a closed round table meeting for WAC members only, on October 9 at 8:00 o'clock in the Carmel High School library.

Mr. von Richter, head of the German department of the Army Language School, was born and educated in Berlin. After studying law, he joined the German Foreign Service. Between 1933 and 1941 he served as vice-consul in Holland, the United States and Brazil.

By way of diplomatic exchange he was returned to Germany during the latter part of World War II and later returned to the United States, becoming an American citizen. After doing postgraduate work at Stanford University, Mr. von Richter travelled extensively in Europe and South America.

W. W. Wheeler

Willard Wall Wheeler, who came to live in Carmel 31 years ago, died on Tuesday morning in his Pebble Beach home after ten years of ill health. A man of deep identity with interests and projects which claimed his attention, Mr. Wheeler was active in many aspects of Carmel life before illness confined him to his home. He had a contagious, overwhelming eagerness and zest for life and is remembered for his sense of fun, humor and gaiety. Mr. Wheeler displayed an unfailing and constant generosity to individuals and causes and a tireless and complete absorption in his dedication to a principle.

Willard Wheeler was born on October 8, 1879, in Cairo, Illinois. He spent his boyhood in Springfield, Illinois, where his father was a lawyer associated with the Lincoln law firm. He developed a life long interest in writing at Williams College, Massachusetts, where he was active in college publications, a member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity and obtained a B.A. degree in 1903.

After graduating from Williams, Mr. Wheeler was a reporter for the New York Globe then entered advertising and was associated with the original Batten, Barton, Durston and Osborne Company. During his New York years he lived with poet Vachel Lindsay, a boyhood friend in Springfield.

He next moved to Cleveland, Ohio, as advertising manager for the Pompeian Manufacturing Company and continued with this firm until 1927 when he retired from the position of vice president. Among Mr. Wheeler's many activities at this time were serving as World War I campaign director for the American Red Cross for the states of Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky; as president of the northern Ohio Williams College Alumni Association; as a director of the National Association of Advertisers of New York City, the Guarantee State Savings and Loan Company, and the Audit Bureau of Circulations in Chicago. He also travelled extensively in 15 countries and nearly every state of the Union.

After spending several winters in Carmel, Mr. Wheeler came here to live in 1927 and two years later built his home on Crespi Lane in Pebble Beach. His old friend, Hugh Comstock, designed the house which became a warm center of welcome for friends of Mr. Wheeler's family which consisted of his wife, Laura, whom he married in 1909 in Naperville, Illinois, and the three Wheeler children, Bill, Virginia and Betty.

In Carmel Willard Wheeler became a community figure serving on the board of the Carmel Music Society, as a vestryman at All Saints' Episcopal Church, taking an active interest in Green Room productions at the Golden Bough Theater, early Carmel theatrical and musical groups, and in writing for the stage. Mr. Wheeler was a faithful member of the Group.

He worked for issues concerning Sunset School, which his children attended, and was publicity director of many Community Chest drives. During World War II, he was captain of the 4:00 o'clock morning watch at the Cypress Point observation post where he spent many cold, dark hours helping guard our coast.

He was the author of Common Stocks Preferred, a book on investments published in 1946.

Surviviors are his wife, Laura Greene Wheeler of Pebble Beach; two daughters, Mrs. Laura Elizabeth Monning of Pasadena and Mrs. Virginia Greene Streeton of Pebble Beach; a son Willard Wall Wheeler Jr. of Pasadena; six grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Carolyn Woodworth of Peoria, Illinois.

Funeral services, following a Requiem Holy Communion Service, were held this morning in All Saints' Episcopal Church with the rector Dr. David Hill officiating, assisted by the Reverend H.M.M. Nicholas and the Reverend Harvey Buck, rector of St. Mary's-by-the-Sea Episcopal Church.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Willard W. Wheeler are asked to do so in the form of donations to the Vera Peck Millis Memorial Library of All Saints' Church, Box 1296, Carmel.

"Psyche" Saw Many Rehearsal Revisions

The Psyche of Diane O'Day was a new script when rehearsals began three weeks ago. Jerry De Bono, who wrote the script especially for The Studio, found it necessary to make daily revisions, additions, and subtractions to the farce in order to mold the form necessary to making a play stage worthy.

The role of Klavonia Tsaraski, played by Betty Fowlston, was expanded several times during rehearsals as it became evident that the strength of the character was needed to point up the weakness of the leading role played by De Bono himself. Miss Fowlston was constantly handed new revisions and cuts during the first two weeks of rehearsals, and the final character that resulted was far different from the originally conceived role of the dynamic Russian literary agent.

De Bono as author, and William Glaves as director, worked together to bring the zany quality and quick pace of the show as it is now being played on Friday and Saturday night at The Studio on Dolores.

Ralph Heaton

Ralph S. Heaton, a retired banker, died on September 23 in his home at Casanova Street and Tenth Avenue after a long period of failing health.

Mr. Heaton was born September 26, 1876, in Germantown, Pennsylvania. For many years he was a vice president and resident manager of the Fresno branch of the Bank of America. After he retired, Mr. Heaton moved to Texas then came to Carmel to live a year ago.

Survivors are his wife, Lora, of Carmel; and two stepdaughters, Mrs. Horace H. Wilson of Wilton, Connecticut, and Mrs. N. C. Templeton of Sacramento.

years back. Stan was cutting up old touches with his rugged teammates in an Iron Man get-together and thoroughly enjoyed the scoring antics of halfback Grimm Mason . . . Coach George Porter's Monterey Peninsula Junior College eleven goes after win number two for the current season this Saturday evening, entertaining Ventura Junior College in a 6:30 game. The game is starting early to cooperate with the Jazz Festival which is opening at the Monterey Fairgrounds. The Lobos surprised the Sequoia Giants in their season-opener two weeks ago and are well rested for an all-out effort against Ventura. Former Padre gridders, Joe Mason and Ted Smith, are slated to open at a halfback and guard spot for the Lobos who appear headed for a banner season . . . Interested spectators at the Bakersfield - Salinas Baker pro game at Salinas last Sunday were Henry Overin and Bobby Updike, two ex-Padre grid greats. Overin is visiting in Carmel following a rigorous season of baseball in Nebraska and Updike is taking a short leave from the Marine Corps at Camp Pendleton . . . Paul Larson, former UC All-American quarterback, showed fans at Salinas Stadium why he was an All-American as he steered the Packers to a 42-20 victory over the good Bakersfield pro club. In the second half, the gifted Turlock gridder shifted from his usual quarterback position to a halfback and put on a dazzling display of pass receiving . . . Carmel High's junior-varsity football team made history at the Monterey Stadium last Saturday, whipping the Monterey jayvees for the very first time. The Little Padres showed plenty of ground-gaining ability in the big win, moving for 350 yards from scrimmage and piling up 18 first downs. Fred Bucher, versatile junior halfback-guard, scored both touchdowns for the Padrecitos, blocking a punt from his guard position and running for a score from his halfback post. Carmel moved the ball so well that the punt signal wasn't called during the entire game . . . Coast Counties Athletic League schools made a good showing in Northern California football during the past week, winning three of the big games played. Santa Cruz ran roughshod over the strong Burlingame squad, 46 to 6; Monterey clipped Merced, 13 to 6; and Salinas edged the classy McClymonds (Oakland) aggregation, 26 to 20. Santa Cruz appears to be one of the best prep teams in Northern California this year and victories over their next two opponents, Berkeley and Bellarmine, will establish the Cardinals up near the top.

PAT BELVAIL AT COLLEGE

Patricia Belvail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Belvail, is back studying at Dominican College in San Rafael after completing the Senior Women Officers Training Course at the Marine Corps School, Quantico, Virginia. During the six weeks she was in Quantico, Patricia learned the responsibility of being a leader in the Women Marines. She had previously completed the Junior Women Officers Training Course. After graduating from Dominican, Pat will be eligible for a commission as a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps. She was a student at Junipero Serra School at Carmel Mission and at Santa Catalina School for Girls before entering Dominican College three years ago.

Pastors Decide More Facilities Needed For Catholic H. S.

At a meeting, Tuesday morning, in Monterey five Catholic pastors including The Most Reverend Harry A. Clinch, Carmel Mission, Right Reverend Monsignor John J. Ryan, Monterey, Reverend William Lane, Pacific Grove, Reverend Ignatius Laughran, Seaside and Reverend Timothy Cummins, Carmel Valley, formed a Board of Pastors to explore the possibility of expanding Catholic High School facilities in the Peninsula area.

Crowded conditions at the present twelve classroom Junipero Memorial High School have made imperative an expansion program. Initial plans were formulated toward providing for an influx of new students anticipated to result from future population growth. The Board members will represent the five Catholic parishes of the area from which students will be attending the proposed new facilities. Announcements on progress will be made by the Board aided by representative laymen from each parish as plans are crystalized.

Bishop Clinch will act as Board Chairman, Monsignor Ryan as executive director, aided by Fathers Lane, Laughran and Cummins.

BPWC NATIONAL WEEK

The four Business and Professional Women's Clubs on the Monterey Peninsula will honor Mrs. Elsie Adams of Carmel, first president of the Alaskan Business and Professional Women's Club, during National Business Women's Week, October 5-11. Mrs. Adams will be guest of honor at a four-club banquet at the Mission Ranch on October 8 at 7:00 o'clock in the evening. The affair also honors Alaska as the newest state in the Union.

The Carmel Business and Professional Women's Club is in charge of the program, a forum discussion on The Condition of Business Women in Various Countries. Six women connected with the Army Language School and two from the Monterey Peninsula will be participants with Miss Gertrude Ernst, past president of the Monterey Peninsula BPWC, as moderator. Mrs. Laura Belle Nicholson, president of Carmel BPWC, with members Miss Patricia Lane and Mrs. Marion Parker have arranged for the following speakers.

Miss Mary Wong of the ALS Chinese Mandarin department will discuss business women in Communist China; Mrs. Harry Talbot, wife of the chairman of the Burmese department, business women in Burma; Mrs. John Purdom, instructor in Thai, Siamese business women; Mrs. Howard Chao, business women in Japan; Mrs. P. C. Lee, wife of the chairman of the Chinese Mandarin department and a Carmel BPWC member, business women in Formosa; Mrs. Sam Kih Min, ALS instructor, business women in Korea; Miss Shirley Stoddard of Carmel Valley, business women in Alaska; and Mrs. Sarah Robbins, Seaside postmistress and member of Seaside BPWC, business women in the United States and on the Monterey Peninsula.

General chairman for the banquet is Mrs. William Coyle of the Monterey Peninsula BPWC.

Carmel Gives "Willingly And With Pride"

By Brayton Witherell

Executive Director and Campaign Manager, Monterey Peninsula Community Chest.

Carmel, which is always a bright spot in the life of your Monterey Peninsula Community Chest, is again living up to its reputation and is responding quickly to the call for funds to support the 20 Chest - Supported - Membership - Agencies.

Carmel this year has been asked to raise $32,500 (23.5%) of the total of $138,156.00. Already Carmel residential has responded with contributions amounting to $9,180.00, thanks to the efforts of Mrs. James C. Glaser, Jr. Chairman and her corps of captains and more than 400 volunteer neighborhood solicitors.

Walter Pilot, Chairman of the business section, reports that already $1,798.00 has been collected.

Carmel gives and Carmel receives. Among the benefits, Carmel receives $8,000 for the Youth Center, and as an example of how the village and the surrounding area turn to the Chest agencies for service, approximately 17 per cent of all visiting nurse calls are from the Carmel area, which in dollars and cents amounts to $2,590.00. These two agencies are just a part of the services that are used by Carmel.

In this homogeneous community of the greater Peninsula no one asks in what community the money is spent. It is raised for the whole area, regardless of city lines; but I thought it might be of interest to the people of Carmel that just two of the agencies of the Chest have proven so beneficial to the village.

If everyone who gave $10 to the Chest last year will give $15 this year, and those who gave $5.00 will give $10.00, Carmel will go well beyond its goal.

Your Community Chest salutes a great community that always does more than its share and does it willingly and with pride.

have asked Senator Fred Farr to get a ruling from the attorney general.

Marina is dubious of unifying its elementary schools with Monterey. Now, as an impoverished district, they have available state funds on long term loan for elementary school construction. If they join Monterey, it appears they will lose the state help and be dependent on Monterey's bonding capacity, which they believe will be used up in high school construction for the next ten years. They may have to remain out and send their high school students to Salinas.

It is possible that Marina is unnessarily viewing with alarm, since there were a number of questions which an intelligible state report might have answered.

Another meeting will be held on November 13, in Salinas Courthouse. Meanwhile, each district will try to make its own financial study, and Floyd Fisher will go to Sacramento to ask questions.

Meanwhile: Pfeiffer's site problem for a new elementary school seems to be solved; its problem of where to send its high school students is still acute.

Mr. Taylor told them that they could legally purchase the site they want on the Molera ranch, even though it is in the Palo Colorado District. A ruling from the county counselor dashed their hopes of unifying with Monterey because their boundaries do not adjoin Monterey. If Monterey unifies, Pfeiffer and Palo Colorado will have to annex to Carmel to provide high schooling for their children. Pfeiffer wants to stay with Monterey—they now belong to the Monterey high school district—because they think they will have representation on the school board.

Monterey hasn't given up. They

at the southernmost limit of the Park.

In order that the complete Gibson Beach frontage may be State controlled, Mr. and Mrs. Owings have arranged a property exchange with Mrs. Vernon Kellogg and her daughter Jean Kellogg. The embankment, owned by the Kelloggs and fronting on Gibson Beach, will be exchanged for an equable piece of property belonging to the Owings, situated behind a guest house on the Kellogg land. The Kellogg embankment, plus the Owings land offered to the State, provides Park control of frontage from Gibson Creek to the southern end of the beach.

Mrs. Owings, who is secretary of the Lobos League, stated this morning that two reservations are written into the proposed gift agreement. First, owners of property immediately adjacent to the gift acre may have permanent access to the beach over the proposed additional State land. Second, no structure of any sort may be built by the State on the Owings acre. Owners protected by the first agreement are Dr. and Mrs. Russell Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Kahn, the Kelloggs, and Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. John Nesbitt, who recently purchased the Owings' house above the gift acre.

Frederick S. Farr, attorney for the Owings, said this morning that Alfred P. Salzgeber, projects investigator for the State Division of Beaches and Parks, indicated to the county planning commission on Tuesday that the State would accept the Owings gift. The land runs back from the beach frontage 200 to 250 feet, Mr. Farr added.

Point Ready To Petition Council For Annexation

of protests. (Resolution of Intent Election and Setting of Hearing.) Hearing is held, by which time owners of real property within territory proposed to be annexed may file written protests. If protests, including supplements, are made by owners of one-half of the value of land, exclusive of improvements, proposed to be annexed, further proceedings shall be terminated.

If protests are insufficient, City Council shall proceed, either by immediately calling a special election or by terminating proceedings. (Resolution.)

If Council determines to proceed, it may adjust boundaries of proposed territory, but it can not include new territory or reduce land area of proposed territory by more than 5% (Resolution.)

If election is held and a majority of votes favors annexation, the City Council may approve the annexation. (Ordinance.) If the City Council fails to approve, it shall submit the question to the electors of the City.
